Learning A New Skill

As we all know, the deadly COVID-19 made us increasingly bored with the indoor life and stressful study. Fortunately, under the guidance of videos, I began to learn to cook at home during the summer vacation. I watched, memorized the steps of cooking, and practiced it by myself.

Though faced with the stressful college entrance exam, I am extremely cheerful every day, for cooking adds color to our family life. Learning to cook for middle school students can prepare us for an independent life in society after graduation. Cooking at home is not only healthier but also cheaper than eating out or ordering take-out.

All in all, I benefit a lot from learning the new skills.
